Mancini Law Group P.C. v Schaumburg Police Department Case: 2017 CH 13881

The Mancini Law Group submitted a series of FOIA requests for police accident reports. The reports were provided but personal information (i.e., the addresses, date of birth, driver's license numbers) were redacted. The law firm was unhappy as they could not solicit the persons involved.

A state law suit was filed to require the Village to provide the information in the past and also in the future stating that the denial of the information was a violation of the Freedom of Information Act. The case has been assigned to Klein, Thorpe and Jenkins. KTJ helped the police department in responding to the FOIA request and has a significant background in the FOIA field. An answer and appearance will be filed. Currently there are several Federal cases dealing with the release of the same information and the potential of it being a violation of the Federal Driver's License Privacy Protection Act. That case will be monitored as well.

CURRENT CASES

Steven Covello v Village of Schaumburg Firefighters Pension Fund, Case: 2016 CH 6945

Mr. Covello was an employee of the Schaumburg Fire Department until he filed for a pension in 2013 requesting a line of duty disability pension. The pension board conducted numerous hearings and denied the line of duty pension but granted regular pension. The Village of Schaumburg had requested to intervene in the proceedings and was permitted to do so. Mr. Covello is appealing the decision. He also claims allowing the Village to intervene was an abuse. Clark, Baird and Smith and the plaintiff's attorney agreed to a briefing schedule on the appeal and a court order was entered on September 16, 2016. The judge will not entertain oral arguments. The judge did take the matter under advisement. The judge entered a decision in favor of the Village of Schaumburg and upheld the decision of the pension board. Mr. Covello has 30 days to determine if he wishes to appeal the case or request a rehearing from the trial judge. We will carry it on the live list until all the appeals have been exhausted. Another appeal was filed. The record of appeal is to be filed by December 1. Once filed the briefing schedule will be set up. Briefing schedule will run into Spring of 2018.

Jennifer Pope v Village of Schaumburg, Case: 14 L 009234

Ms. Pope tripped and fell on the parkway as she was walking to her vehicle on Walnut Lane. The area was under construction and Plote was the General Contractor. Our contract requires the contractor to defend the Village from any claims of this type. It appears that our tender has been successful to Plote. Plote has now tendered the case to a subcontractor whose insurance company is disputing Plote's insurance company. So, a second lawsuit was filed to determine who defends whom. Secura Insurance has agreed to fully defend and indemnify the Village. We are working with David Schroeder of Charysh & Schroeder, LTD to coordinate the depositions of the police officers as well as our engineering staff. The police depositions have been completed and went well. The engineering staff depositions were conducted in February. Once discovery is completed, appropriate motions will be filed or the matter will be set for a settlement conference. A hold has been placed on the case as one of the subcontractors has filed for bankruptcy and the parties are trying to determine what to do next. At some time the plaintiff will be pushing to have the case move forward. It has been several months, but still no action by the plaintiff in the bankruptcy court.

Ronald Dean Jr. v Chicago, Schaumburg, Case: 15 CV3193

Pro se means the plaintiff is representing himself. It was clear from the complaint that it was not drafted by an attorney. The complaint seems to allege that the plaintiff was arrested for offenses he did not commit. Someone had stolen his identity. It was difficult to follow and the lawsuit was filed against the Schaumburg Police Department, a legal entity that does not exist. The plaintiff has since then filed three (3) amended complaints without securing the Judge's permission. The last complaint failed to make any allegations against the Village of Schaumburg. As we currently have a motion to dismiss the file and the plaintiff has never responded to it, we will be following up on that motion at the next hearing date. The judge on his motion continued the status date a number of times. He further directed the parties not to file any new pleadings. Since the only one that has been doing that is the plaintiff, it should only affect him. The judge took Senior Status March 1 and then passed away in mid-March. The case was reassigned to Judge Kendall and the matter was set over to May 10 for status. The case was dismissed but the plaintiff has refiled a motion to amend, which the judge is treating as a motion to reconsider the order of dismissal. The plaintiff has also filed an appeal, but it appears that it was late. We anticipate that the Court of Appeals will also deny the appeal and the case should hopefully be over. The court was trying to determine if it had jurisdiction to hear the case. We will be filing a short brief. No further word on the status of the case. On November 1, 2017, the appellate court entered an order stating that we are to file an updated joint status report on 11/15/17 regarding the status of the Motion to Reconsider. The appellate court also ordered that if Judge Kendall has not ruled by then, we are to ask her when she expects to rule.

Brit UW Limited v Matthew Hudak, Case: 14 CV 8503

The Village of Schaumburg purchased insurance to cover it and its employees in regards to civil rights violations. The Village and three (3) former police officers who were criminally charged with offenses were sued in a series of civil rights violations. The insurance company sued to have a court order that it did not have to provide insurance, i.e. defend or pay for any settlement, finding or court determination for the three (3) criminally charged police officers.

The Village's insurance company has filed a lawsuit seeking a judgment from the Court that it has no duty to defend Matthew Hudak or Terrance O'Brien in any of the civil rights cases. There are a number of different legal issues that result from this lawsuit. The case has been assigned to Village Attorney, Lance C. Malina. The matter had been put on hold until all of the cases were resolved. We wanted to determine what the costs were that the Village paid, and the funds we believed should have been paid by the insurance company. Final figures have been provided to the insurance company but no agreement has been reached as to repayment to the Village of Schaumburg. A settlement conference has been set for December 7, 2017.

Joan Michels v Village of Schaumburg, Case: 2017 L 535

Ms. Michels used the commuter parking lot in Schaumburg to take the train to work on a daily basis. In January 2016, she parked her car and went to work. When she returned to her vehicle that night she tripped and fell into a hole that was by the driver's door. She sustained injuries and has sued. The case has been assigned to Pat Cuisinier. Mr. Cuisinier has represented the Village on prior slip and fall cases. He has relocated to another law firm of Ruberry, et al. but is prepared to honor the reduced fees we had previously discussed.

We issued discovery in March. We have received some information from the plaintiff but very limited. We hope to carefully review the information as to determine our next course of action. The plaintiff's deposition has been cancelled until we provide more information to the plaintiff.

We are still reviewing all of our internal records to determine what should be released.

Thomas Drabant v Village of Schaumburg, Commonwealth Edison, Case: 2017 L 6344

In April 2016, Mr. Drabant was riding his bike on a designated bike path near 1701 E. Woodfield Road when he hit a portion of the sidewalk that did not exist anymore. It had been replaced with sand. As a result he fell off the bike and injured himself. It appears that ComEd may have been working in the area and never notified us of the work or pulled the necessary permits before removing the slab of sidewalk. ComEd has also been sued.

As the case was filed in Rolling Meadows and may be tried out in the suburbs, we picked an attorney that practices in that area. John Norton has previously represented the Village of Schaumburg to our satisfaction. We are in the process of gathering the necessary information and will try to get out of the lawsuit if we can confirm this work area was ComEd's project. We have provided over 36 documents to our attorney to review. He has met with our staff to see if we had notice of the defect. We had no notice of the defect. We are exploring a Tort Immunity Defense as well as contribution from the other contractors. We have issued requests for Discovery to the plaintiff, but have not received any from him. The case was set to October 20 for status. We requested leave to file affirmative defenses against the plaintiff, a counterclaim against ComEd and a third-party complaint against INTREN, the subcontractor used by ComEd. A status date in mid-December has been set.

An interesting case involving the Tort Immunity Act is set to be argued before the Illinois Supreme Court this session. A decision in that case may provide some guidance to the trial court.
